

Manhattan Jury Awards $2.5 Million to Lead Poisoned Girl

Congratulations to Trial Attorney

———— LINDA NELSON ————

and the entire Lead Poisoning Department at Fitzgerald & Fitzgerald, PC

Ronae was lead poisoned for five years from ages 1 to 6. Her blood lead levels were constantly elevated but remained under the Department of Health action level. Now a teenager, she is in special education classes. She has impaired memory and learning disabilities in math and reading. Trial attorney Linda Nelson presented convincing medical expert testimony supported by neuro-psychological testing to convince a conscientious Manhattan jury to award adequate compensation.

"We fight for kids' rights"

Lead Poisoning is a common yet totally preventable childhood disease. The undeveloped brains of young children are particularly susceptible to insult and injury. Often parents are not aware that even low blood lead levels can cause:

- Learning Disabilities
- Loss of I.Q.
- Attention Deficits
- Hyperactivity
- Cognition Deficits

If your child suffers from any of these injuries, call the law firm of
